Healthy in Healthcare: The How & Why to Renewing, Recharging, & Reconnecting to Your Life Personally & Professionally

Turnover and burnout are common words heard and experienced in the healthcare profession. It can be seen happening around us in long term care, and at times to us. But, why is it happening, and most importantly, what are we doing about it? Jessica Hauser, LNHA, will give you a first-hand account of her experience with burnout, how it brought her to rock bottom with her own health and happiness, and how she reversed the cycle. She will also take a look at the hard facts about turnover and burnout in healthcare, why it’s happening, and what individuals can do about it. Lastly, and most importantly, attendees will realize how they can positively impact this cycle by implementing a care plan for their own health and wellness.
Jessica Hauser has been a Licensed Nursing Home Administrator (LNHA) in North Carolina since 2010. She began her career in healthcare after attending East Carolina University for her Bachelor’s and Master’s Degrees in Public Relations and Health Communications. After several years as a LNHA, Jessica found herself struggling with her own health, and at rock bottom physically, mentally, and emotionally. Through implementing a physical, mental, and spiritual approach to her own health, she realized that many other healthcare professionals are struggling with the same issues, yet it often goes unspoken. Jessica recognized the impact of employee health in the industry-wide staffing crisis, profitability, and patient outcomes. She left her job in long term care in 2018 to pursue her life’s passion for helping others live their best life through a holistic approach to their health. Jessica is a certified health and wellness coach, personal trainer, and group fitness instructor. Jessica Hauser Coaching works with healthcare professionals and companies to create healthier cultures through a holistic approach.

NCHCFA Member Advocacy

Every Skilled Nursing Facility (SNF) is located in the district of numerous federal and state elected officials. Every day SNFs employ and provide care for their constituents. Those same officials make critical decisions affecting the delivery of post-acute and long term care each year. These decisions impact Medicare and Medicaid funding and regulation, workforce development, and changes to Certificate of Need laws. The Association and its members must take an active role in building relationships with elected officials, and educating those individuals on the impact their decisions have on our profession and the individuals cared for in member facilities.

In this session, NCHCFA President and CEO Adam Sholar and NCHCFA Consultant Jim Harrell will provide members with resources on how to effectively engage elected officials in their home districts. The presentation will cover how to host an elected official in your SNF for a tour or visit, the importance of participating in the NCHCFA Political Action Committee (PAC), and also how to work with your elected officials in their offices in Raleigh and in Washington, DC. In addition, the presentation will highlight issues on NCHCFA’s advocacy agenda for 2019.

Jim Harrell is a lobbyist with Bode & Harrell, LLP in Raleigh. He served three terms as a Democratic member of the North Carolina General Assembly representing the state’s nineteenth House district, including constituents in Alleghany and Surry counties. He served as Chairman of the Environment and Natural Resources committee in his second term and of Judiciary Committee II in the second half of his first term. This session promises to test our perspectives and identify new approaches for obtaining traditional goals that have yet to come to complete fruition.

Medicaid Reimbursement and Eligibility: Producing Better Outcomes with Less Expense

Attendees will be advised on how to recognize Medicaid eligibility concerns from the point of admission as well as streamline and update Admission and Business Office Practices. Participants will learn to assist the residents and family members to secure Medicaid approval in a timely manner, in turn improving the cash velocity for each facility.

Becky Hewitt will provide detailed education on North Carolina Medicaid policy specifically related to Medicaid eligibility. She will discuss common Medicaid denials and penalties, and how to avoid them, as well as discuss alternatives to discharge for non-payment including Guardianship petitions. Additionally, Ms. Hewitt will specifically talk through when a Guardian petition should and should not be considered as a possible resolution. The training will outline the different legal surrogates with authority to act on a resident’s behalf, including a Power of Attorney and Guardians.

This training is a perfect opportunity to educate staff in recognizing trends in reimbursement, as well as train new employees, cross-train existing staff, or refresh and update seasoned partners. Participants will become a skilled resource for residents, their families, and their companies.

Becky Hewitt is a Medicaid Reimbursement Specialist for the Atlanta based law firm, Hall Booth Smith, PC. Becky Hewitt has worked in medical reimbursement for over 22 years, specifically in the long term care field for 19 years. She has worked at the facility level as a Business Office Manager and at the operations level as a Regional Consultant to Admissions, Marketing, and Business Office staff. Since joining the firm in 2011, she, along with the Medicaid Reimbursement team, has helped facilities throughout the southeast recover several million dollars each year in Medicaid revenue.

Nurses, Nurse Aides, Social Workers, & MDS Coordinators Day
Section GG - Functional Abilities & Goals
Section GG of the Minimum Data Set (MDS) has been updated and data collection began on October 1st, 2018. Section GG includes standardized patient assessment data elements and was implemented in response to the (Improving Medicare Post-Acute Care Transformation) IMPACT Act. This session will identify the new items added to section GG, practice the coding instructions for new items, and put knowledge to practice with a case study. At the end of the session, attendees will be able to demonstrate a working knowledge of section GG and achieve the following objectives: (1) Discuss the steps for assessment, (2) Describe the intent of Section GG, (3) Define the assessment reference period for each data element, (4) Accurately code Section GG scenarios, and (5) Present and review a Case Study.

Manisha Dass is a research public health analyst with RTI International in the Quality Measurement and Healthy Policy program, within the eHealth, Quality and Analytics Division. At RTI, she works on healthcare delivery and policy projects with a focus on quality measures and standardized data elements, including functional status collected in each post-acute setting. She is a part of the cross-setting help desk team, answering questions for post-acute care providers. Manisha has over five years of experience as an occupational therapist in direct patient care in acute care hospitals, Skilled Nursing Facilities, and private practice, which helps her bring a clinician’s perspective to the team. Manisha also has a strong background in journalism, writing, and developing training materials, allowing her to contribute to the creation of new materials to help clinicians better understand and implement the Section GG data elements in post-acute care settings.

RTI develops, implements, and maintains cross-setting and setting-specific outcome and process quality measures (QMs) reflective of quality care for post-acute care (PAC) settings, and supportive of CMS quality and Quality Improvement Organization (QIO) program missions, including the Long-Term Care Hospital (LTCH) Quality Reporting Program (QRP), the Inpatient Rehabilitation Facility (IRF) QRP, the Skilled Nursing Facility (SNF) QRP and the Nursing Home Quality Initiative (NHQI). RTI develops, implements, and maintains measures to enable cross-setting QM comparisons, care coordination, and longitudinal outcome analyses. RTI International recently presented a national train-the-trainer presentation concerning the MDS changes at the CMS Quality Conference in Baltimore, MD.
